

Field Trip to BBC Bureau, Hyderabad

DATE: 12-11-2018

Smt K.Sailaja Rani, Lecturer in English along with 30 students visited BBC bureau office at Banjara Hills, Hyderabad.

They attended a workshop arranged by BBC bureau on 'Beyond Fake News' at International Institute Information Technology, Gachibowli, Hyderabad. The project is a decisive step in the BBC's commitment to tackle the spread of fake news. It is a unique BBC research project on how news is spreading within encrypted chat apps in India, Kenya and Nigeria. The workshop aimed at why people are sharing fake news on social media overtaking the truth and how to curb this menace.

“Field trips, including those that are virtual, enable teachers to create as many authentic experiential experiences as possible. These spatial memories are embedded in the brain and need no rehearsal.”
