Description of the Programme:

Smt.K.B.M. Rajani, said that the development of the internet nowadays has both a positive and negative impact on crime that targets everyone, including children. Cyber-crime impact on children should be dealt with seriously. The child never knows the person with whom he or she is chatting is only when they happen to meet each other in person that they see a person who may be an old man in their 40's or 50's with whom they were chatting and realize their mistake. Many children commit suicide when their objectionable pictures are posted online. Children often avoid telling their parents or anyone about their predicament as they are afraid of more trouble than relief. The resource person advised the students on how to handle such situations in the society.
